

Laurentiu Fagateanu-Ramirez

A-levels Studied: Mathematics,
Further Mathematics, Physics,
Chemistry

University Attending:

University College London

Degree Studying:

Statistics, Economics and Finance

“... My university is full of different societies - (I think nationally it has the most societies) - from those that are course related, sports societies to random things like the ‘Harry Potter Society.’ If you study here you would always find things to do every day of the week. I find myself doing random things a lot of the time. This leaves you with loads of things to do in your spare time when you aren’t studying or revising.

A top tip would be if you’re studying at a London university – whether living on campus or commuting in - don’t, just stay in your accommodation. London has so much to offer if you go out and about..

Overall, I am finding university fun as I am always doing something but I would advise to make sure you stay on top of your work as it is really easy to fall behind ... “